It's the wind in the pines singing 'Adam, where are you?'

The oldest of questions that everyone hears

It calls to the heart in the silence of mid-night

In the softest of whispers when God lingers near

'Adam, where are you? Oh, Adam, where are you?'

C G Am Asus2 D
Oh why are you hiding? I'm waiting for you

G C Bm
'Adam, where are you? Oh Adam, where are you?'

C G C G
Oh won't you come to me? I miss you

G C Bm
And it drums in the thunder of war to the sol-dier

C G Am Asus2 D
And it moans through the rigging in boats on the sea

G C Bm
And it speaks in the snow-covered mount to the cli-mber.

C G Am Asus2 D
And everyone's listening but few ever hear

G C Bm
'Adam, where are you? Oh, Adam, where are you?'

C G Am Asus2 D
Oh why are you hiding? I'm waiting for you

G C Bm
'Adam, where are you? Oh Adam, where are you?'

C G C G
Oh won't you come to me? I miss you

G C Bm
And it beats in the first breath of life to the ba-by

C G Am Asus2 D
And it pleads as the last breath we draw hovers near

G C Bm
And each step that we take He is watching and wai-ting

C G Am Asus2 D
Waiting for someone to lend Him an ear

G C Bm
'Adam, where are you? Oh, Adam, where are you?'

C G Am Asus2 D
Oh why are you hiding? I'm waiting for you

G C Bm
'Adam, where are you? Oh Adam, where are you?'

C G C G
Oh won't you come to me? I'm wai-ting

C G C G
He's wai-ting
