

Love will find a way

Words and music by Kevin Lee

When you think the road has ended,
You're convinced life can't be mended,
For it's not how you intended, anything to be.
You're picking up the pieces, from another hopeless failure,
But the thing you must remember, is love will find a way.

Only love will find a way, for only love looks past your failures,
Only love can see completeness, where there's only sin and weakness.
God's love will find a way through all the wreckage of a lifetime,
And create a perfect masterpiece, for love can find a way.

When you've messed up once again,
And you hang your head in shame,
For the fool you are, as everybody shake their heads and sigh.
And you groan beneath the burden, of the heavy load you carry,
But the thing you must remember is, love will find a way.

Only love can see completeness, where there's only sin and weakness.

C G Am Em

God's love will find a way through all the wreckage of a lifetime,

F Am C G7 C

And create a perfect masterpiece, for love can find a way.

F Am C G7 C

And create a perfect masterpiece, for God will find a way.
